WORSHIP

Want to examine your worship practices? Want to explore an alternative? Does your church argue about "traditional" versus "contemporary worship"? This 6 part series, led by Robert Webber, will get you thinking about worship and may help you redesign your worship service. He suggests what he calls "convergence worship" which draws together the substance of traditional worship and the relevance of contemporary worship. Convergence worship is: liturgical, culturally relevant, participatory and holistic. Great series for Diaconate or worship committees, or a weekend retreat, or Lenten series, or any other time of the year.

FREEDOM, CHURCH HISTORY

When future Christians look back on the history of the church in the 20 and 21st centuries, one of the towering figures will be Bishop Desmond Tutu. His faithful efforts to steer his nation through one histories greatest peaceful political transformations will be a signpost for future generations, in much the same way as Gandhi was for many people in the 20th century. In this video Bishop Tutu talks about such subjects as: What is God like?; Why were we created?; What role does love play in our lives?" How important are our personal relationships?; Can worship be made vital and meaningful today?; What about prayer?; etc.

Preventing Child Abuse

Videotape, Guide

Center for the Prevention of Sexual & Domestic Violence

Adult

HEALTH & WELFARE, FAMILY, CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

This program is intended for clergy, lay leaders, religious educators and teachers who are interested in implementing a personal safety curriculum to help prevent child sexual abuse. A role play is presented on a church that instituted such a curriculum. It is quite realistic, raising both fears and benefits of such a program. Comes with a study guide and resource list. Quite Good! Recommended to be used with "Hear Their Cries" (also in the library).
